Policy and Curriculum:

The Policy and Curriculum committee, one of three BCCU#2 committee meetings held on Sept. 14, took place at the Greenville High School library. The committee had the second reading of Press Plus Issue 109, which must be adopted by Sept. 28.

There was discussion of changing the public comment rules from allowing 60 minutes for public comment to only allowing 45. The board president has the power to extend public comment if they so choose as long as the comments are productive.

Facilities and Transportation:

During the Facilities and Transportation committee meeting, the members discussed the bus routes and how long the kids are on the bus per day. They are trying to move kids around on buses so that they can shorten the time they are on the bus. There are also two new buses that are going to be added to the fleet.

An update was given on the high school Auxiliary gym/cafeteria project. The contractors had to remove about 2,000 cubic feet of bad dirt that they could not build on.

Finance:

The Finance committee met to discuss the budget, and also heard a presentation from representatives from GRP, the company doing construction work on the school, about the progress and financing of the project.

The committee reviewed the bills to date, along with the finance/treasurer's report and the fiscal year 2023 budget update.

The next meeting of the full board will be Sept. 21, at the GES library.

Scooter's Coffee CEO talks metro east expansion

By Rachel Terry
ADVOCATE NEWS STAFF

In a recent interview with The Advocate, Scooter's Coffee CEO Todd Graeve spoke about the company's recent expansion, specifically in the metro east area. As many are no doubt familiar by now, Scooter's Coffee recently opened locations in Greenville and Jerseyville. The Greenville location franchise is being operated by Jerry Gaffner; his brother, Scott, operates the Jerseyville location.

Graeve says Scooter's was founded in Omaha, Nebraska 24 years ago and that the company will celebrate 25 years in business in March. Scooter's was a mostly Midwestern-based company for many years, "expanding out of Omaha and into markets like Kansas City and Des Moines ... and over the years, we've had quite a bit of expansion in the Midwest, including Missouri and Illinois. It took about 18 years to

Sorento ordinance committee meets

By Rebecca Sponsler
ADVOCATE NEWS STAFF

At the Sorento ordinance committee meeting, members present reviewed the two ordinances the committee is considering amending: culverts and campers.

The committee would like to establish that the first culvert on a customer's property will be paid for by the city, and any after that are the responsibility of the customer.

They want to amend the ordinance about the campers to state that a camper can be used on a property for 30 days if, for example, someone has relatives visiting. The camper would have to be moved outside city limits after the 30 days if the ordinance passes.

The next regular board meeting will be held Oct. 3.

Davis declares Social Security fairness week

Davis' act meets consensus calendar requirements Tuesday, Sept. 20

U.S. Rep. Rodney Davis (R-IL) declares the week of Sept. 19 as Social Security Fairness Week. Under House rules, the week is the first time that the language of Davis' H.R. 82, the Social Security Fairness Act, could be voted on by the full House of Representatives. Davis has secured 299 co-sponsors on his legislation, which allows it to be considered for a floor vote under the consensus calendar process in the House Rules. It is up to Speaker Nancy Pelosi to allow this legislation for a vote.

A member of Congress may file a motion with the House Clerk to place their legislation on the consensus calendar once their legislation has accumulated at least 290 cosponsors. If the legislation maintains at least 290 cosponsors for 25 legislative days, and the committee of jurisdiction does not report the legislation, it will be placed on the consensus calendar. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi has the authority to bring legislation on the calendar to the floor for a vote before the full House of Representatives. (Pages 719 and 720, Rules of the House of Representatives)

Davis filed a motion on July 15, to place the Social Security Fairness Act on the consensus calendar. The 25-days-on-the-calendar requirement for the legislation will be met on Tuesday, Sept. 20 and will be eligible for a vote the same day. Davis urges Speaker Pelosi and House leadership to allow an immediate vote on this legislation.

"Our bipartisan Social Security Fairness Act has reached another important legislative milestone," said Davis. "In the next few days, we will have met the consensus calendar requirements outlined in the House. Speaker Pelosi must allow a vote. The millions of public service workers across this country who are being unfairly punished by the Social Security Act deserve it. That's why a bipartisan supermajority of the House is cosponsoring our bill. Let's get this done."

"The 'Social Security Fairness Act' is ultimately about fairness to public employees who served their communities. When these public employees earn a Social Security benefit through other work, they should receive that benefit in full without being penalized because of their public service. A significant bipartisan majority of the House shares this view, and we believe this bill should be considered and passed by the U.S. House of Representatives." — Patrick Yoes, national president of the Fraternal Order of Police

"Millions of dedicated public servants, including educators, continue to be denied Social Security benefits that they earned. For years, Democrats and Republicans in Congress have talked about ending this injustice by repealing the Government Pension Offset (GPO) and Windfall Elimination Provision (WEP) penalties. Retirees across the nation deserve the full benefits they have earned. We support the Social Security Fairness Act and need Congress to finally act and make it happen." — Marc Egan, director of government relations, National Education Association.

"The Social Security Fairness Act would finally right the wrong that the Windfall Elimination Provision and the Government Pension Offset have inflicted on postal and other public sector workers. Together, these provisions have unfairly reduced the hard-earned Social Security benefits of Postal Workers, and many other federal and state workers. APWU applauds Representative Rodney Davis and Representative Abigail Spanberger for their work to right this wrong, and we call on Congress to immediately pass the Social Security Fairness Act and give our retirees the benefits they paid for and earned." — Mark Dimondstein, national president of the American Postal Workers Union

Background on H.R. 82:

H.R. 82, the Social Security Fairness Act, eliminates the windfall elimination provision (WEP) and the government pension offset (GPO) of Social Security Act.

WEP reduces the earned Social Security benefits of an individual who also receives a public pension from a job not covered by Social Security. For example, educators who do not earn Social Security in the public schools but who work part-time or during the summer in jobs covered by Social Security have reduced benefits, even though they pay into the system just like others. WEP also affects people who move from a job in which they earn Social Security to a job, such as teaching, in which they do not.

GPO affects the spousal benefits of people who work as federal, state, or local government employees — including educators, police officers, and firefighters — if the job is not covered by Social Security. GPO reduces by two-thirds the benefit received by surviving spouses who also collect a government pension. Nine out of 10 public employees affected by GPO lose their entire spousal benefit, even though their spouse paid Social Security taxes for many years.

These unfair provisions discourage qualified, talented individuals from entering public service professions. WEP and GPO do not eliminate a so-called "windfall" for public service workers, they penalize these workers by taking away benefits they earned throughout their careers.

DeMoulin Museum showing early 1940s classic films

DEMOULIN MUSEUM RELEASE
The DeMoulin Museum will host its third annual Classic Film Festival on Sunday, Sept. 25, at 1 p.m. This year's theme is the War Years as each selection is from the early 1940s.

There will be shorts from Bugs Bunny, the Three Stooges, and Laurel & Hardy, plus the feature film "Buck Privates," starring Abbott & Costello. Each will be introduced with information about that particular film. DeMoulin Museum curator John Goldsmith, and film buffs John Coleman and Tom Varner selected the lineup.

"The film festival is one of our favorite yearly activities," explained Goldsmith. "It will be a great afternoon of classic comedy, which can be enjoyed by all ages."

The Laurel & Hardy selection is a rarely seen promotional short film from 1942 produced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is the only professionally shot color film of the duo. The Bugs Bunny short, "Falling Hare," is from 1943 and centers around the rabbit's conflict with a destructive gremlin. The Three Stooges short, "You Nazy Spy!" is believed to be the first Hollywood film to satirize Adolf Hitler.

"Buck Privates," released in 1941, was Abbott and Costello's first starring role. Also appearing are the Andrews Sisters, who introduced the song "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" in the film. The song earned an Academy Award nomination.

Admission is free, and complimentary soda and popcorn will be available. Seating will be first come, first serve. The DeMoulin Museum is located at 205 S. Prairie Street in Greenville.

ISP rebuilds with 326 new troopers added since 2019

ILLINOIS STATE POLICE RELEASE
The Illinois State Police (ISP) commissioned 21 new troopers on Friday, Sept. 16, from Cadet Class 135 at a graduation ceremony at the Illinois State Police Academy in Springfield. The total number of ISP troopers added since 2019 now stands at 326. The new troopers will report to three ISP patrol districts on Monday, Sept. 19, 2022.

"Illinois State Troopers are some of the finest men and women serving our state," said Governor JB Pritzker. "My administration raised the ISP budget to the highest in its history and funded a record number of new troopers because we know that these officers form the backbone of public safety in this state. Congratulations to this class of graduates on your accomplishments, and I thank you for your hard work and for choosing a career dedicated to the safety of others."

Cadet Class 135 marks the ninth cadet class graduation under Gov. Pritzker. The Governor's proposed ISP budget for Fiscal Year 2023 is the largest in ISP history and allows for an additional 300 new troopers.

"These new troopers will join the most professional crime fighters in the nation to advance the cause of safety and justice across Illinois, living the values of integrity, service, and pride," said ISP Director Brendan F. Kelly.

The 21 newest troopers have completed a demanding 28-week program of physical and classroom instruction, which included training in cultural diversity, procedural justice, domestic violence, critical incident response, de-escalation tactics, firearms, first responder certification, control and arrest tactics, Illinois vehicle code, criminal law, motor carrier safety, juvenile law, and more.

In addition to the 28-week academy training, troopers are required to participate in one-on-one mentoring with field training officers as part of a 14-week field training program, expanding their total training to 40 weeks. Troopers who successfully complete the field training program advance to solo-patrol status.

The new officers are assigned to the following areas of the state and will immediately begin their patrol duties, joining veteran troopers in the effort to safeguard the public and Illinois roadways.

- District Chicago, 15 cadets
- District 5 Joliet, two cadets
- District 11 Collinsville, four cadets

Anyone interested in joining the ranks of Illinois State Police is encouraged to visit the Illinois State Police Merit Board (ISPMB) website at illinoistrooper.com for application information.

get to 150 stores, but now we're fortunate in having fairly active expansion plans beyond that. By the end of 2022, we expect to be at about 600 stores in 27 states." He added that by the end of 2023 and the beginning of 2024, the company expects to cross the threshold of 1,000 stores in about 30 states.

By the end of this year, Graeve said he believes that the company will have about 100 stores in Missouri and Illinois and that number will increase to 150 stores by the end of 2023. There is a strong focus on the St. Louis metro area, "but also some of the smaller communities around St. Louis. Yesterday, I was at a store in Waterloo, Illinois, and that franchisee opened up there just a couple of weeks ago. And so our focus will certainly be on expansion in the St. Louis metro area, but would focus in addition to that [on] smaller communities throughout Missouri and Illinois. And of course then in the 30 state region on that march to 1,000 stores."

The Jerseyville store celebrated its official grand opening on Friday, Sept. 16. Graeve said the Gaffners were, "really such a quality family and a member of the local community and so we're excited for Scott and his family in Jerseyville. The store is doing really well ... That store represents our standard business model at Scooter's Coffee." He went on to say that business model consists of about a 670 square foot pre-standing drive through kiosk and that Scott Gaffner, like other franchisees, focus on drive through.

Graeve said, "Our approach to creating competitive distinction in a competitive coffee landscape is fast and friendly service. So world-class drinks, world-class lattes, but delivering that in a drive through lane with respect of the customer in mind. What I mean by that is that we want to build relationships with them, we want to get to know them and then respect their time in a drive through lane as they move on through their day."

The company "has been blessed with fairly proactive growth over the last few years ... but it's not just about growth ... what's very very important to us is that we're doing it the right way." He said that approach is framed by the company's core values: integrity, humility, love and courage.

He concluded by saying, "I think it's just important to us that the communities we're going into know that we want to do business in the right way, in a relational way and it's mostly framed by those core values."

KC Nursing students take part in empathy training exercise

KASKASKIA COLLEGE RELEASE
Empathy is a powerful skill in healthcare. It is not only the ability to understand another person's feelings, but it is also about understanding what they are going through to help them feel better. Recently Maggie Gerstner and Diana Voss of Southern Illinois Hospice provided an empathy training program for Kaskaskia College Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) and Licensed Practical Nursing (LPN) students. Students were given special glasses, gloves, and a headset and instructed to complete five simple tasks: feed the dog, stack measuring cups, and sort a deck of cards by suit. The glasses, gloves, and headset distracted the students as they tried to complete the tasks. Some were successful. Others were not. The exercises were to help students gain a better understanding of a patient's perspective. CNA Program Coordinator Shelby Guthrie says the training is an excellent experience for the students. "If students know how to empathize, they will be better students, friends, employees, community members, and leaders. They will carry an understanding of the world's complexities and others' experiences, deepening all relationships in their life. They become better learners, better understand concepts, read others more accurately, and show better social behavior. Empathy is essential in healthcare. Expressing empathy is highly effective and powerful, which builds patient trust, calms anxiety, and improves health outcomes."

Travel Stories

"Australia Part 2"

By Emily Moore

Melbourne

We flew to Melbourne — a 45 minute flight, and they served us a hot lunch! Friends met us at the airport and we stayed with them for a couple nights. They were excited and happy to show us their beautiful city.

They drove us by the church they attend — a mix of Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregation. The church is called the "Uniting" church.

The "Healsville Sanctuary" was the highlight of the day. There we saw platypus, pelicans, kangaroos, emus and goliath birds. One baby kangaroo was still riding in his mother's pouch — he was so big his feet stuck out. Most exciting were the koalas. We were just in time for feeding — they munched on fresh gum tree branches. Great pictures!

Penguin Parade

This is a great tourist attraction! We walked on boardwalks to the beach where there were grandstands set up. Strict rules — no flash pictures and stay seated. At dusk the penguins started marching up through the sand, returning

Twelve Apostles."

Alice Springs

We flew to Alice Springs and changed our clocks back 1 hour and 30 minutes. We took a tour around the city. It was hot — about 100 degrees — sandy and barren. But Alice Springs is green with grass and trees — an oasis. However, the river running through the town is just a dry creek bed — just a trickle of water. We took pictures and swatted flies — they were terrible!

We bought some opals — had a refreshing swim in the pool — and checked off "Alice Springs."

to their chicks waiting in their burrows. Their bellies were bulging, full of food that they would regurgitate to their chicks.

Great Ocean Road

This beautiful drive along the southern ocean coast of Australia is well worth the drive. We made many stops for pictures even though it was cloudy. And then the sun came out at "The Twelve Apostles" making beautiful golden pictures. These limestone pillars were once connected to the mainland cliffs. Waves and wind carved them into caves, then arches and eventually just tall columns. Since we were there two of them have collapsed. Carlyle Lake Haunted Trail makes changes for 2022

Volunteers wanted

It's that haunting time of year again. Preparations are underway for an improved Haunted Trail event on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22, with a rain date of Sunday, Oct. 23, from 6:30-10 p.m., both nights.

The major change is the location of tickets and parking which has been changed to the dam west boat ramp. This will provide larger space for parking and easier hayride loading of the increasing attendance. The dam west boat ramp is accessible off Highway 127

North on to William Road at the MacDonald's. The boat ramp/parking is past Mariner's Village and Los Amigos restaurant. No parking will be available at the MacDonald's restaurant lot as in years past.

The new location will have food trucks and playground and restroom facilities near ticketing. Given the expansion and improvements, the admission fee will be ten dollars per person.

The Haunted Trail is for youths aged 12 and up and adults and is not suitable for young children.

Volunteers to help on the trail or at the lot are welcome. Slots are available for haunters in groups or as individuals. Walkers are participants which have no set location but wander the trail.

To volunteer or for more information, please contact the director, Peggy Hilmes, at 618-530-9094 or the Army Corps of Engineers at 618-594-2484.

The Haunted Trail is a presentation of the Carlyle Lake Fireworks Committee, the Carlyle Optimist Club, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and has been an annual event since 1992. All proceeds benefit the 2023 lake fireworks.

Inaugural Dave Holden Open held Tuesday

Event honors Holden's family and his legacy

By Rachel Terry
ADVOCATE NEWS STAFF

The first Dave Holden Open was held Tuesday, Sept. 13, at the high school soccer fields. The cross country running event featured several different teams. The course, similar to one Holden had created, consisted of three laps, a distance of a little over three miles.

Holden began the high school's cross country team and spent 15 years building it into a full-fledged program.

Cross country running is made up of teams. Each member is assigned one point for their position in line when they cross the finish line and the team with the lowest score, when added up, wins, similar to golf.

Holden's family — his wife, Teresa, and children, Lindsey, Ashley, and David — traveled across the country to be at the event. They were presented with a plaque and gifts by Athletic Director Joe Alstat.

When asked what their dad meant to them, Ashley and Lindsey said that while Holden was their track coach, he was also their "life coach and guide." Ashley described him as the glue of the family. Teresa said that her husband had a really calm presence. "He was always there for us ... if we needed help with something," Lindsey added. Ashley described him as a "gentle giant."

Ashley and Lindsey both ran cross country and said it impacted their whole lives. It got them to school at DePaul University. Ashley said that her sister was a great sprinter and wanted more training, "and so thankfully the East St. Louis Senior High School family accepted us into their summer training program." Lindsey said she began running in jr. high and went to state in eighth grade. The two continued to run throughout high school and into college. "I don't think we would be where we are now if we hadn't run track," Ashley added.

Ashley works as a broadcast journalist at a TV station in Phoenix, and Lindsey works as a reporter for the Sacramento Bee. They both say that their dad knew what they planned to do in terms of career and that he loved it. "He would even learn how to coach us in those aspects," Ashley said. "He would watch every show that I did and text me something after, that was encouraging or call me after. Or I would say I didn't like this part of the show and he would kind of coach me on it even though, you know, that wasn't his career, he always found a way to coach us." Lindsey added, "He was really involved in our lives, even after track."

Ashley said, "I think that his big legacy that he'll leave behind is that he wanted to help everyone and have everyone ... have a fun time competing and being the best they could be, even if that was running cross country, running track, or just in life ... He took this program, it was just us running around Greenville at first. He created this and coached this and now to see the program continue, it's very him." She added that she graduated and wasn't sure the program would continue, but her dad "just kept coaching and the team kept growing ... He loved it. I think he loved coaching us, but he also loved coaching others and I think that that will be the legacy that he leaves behind."

Teresa Holden said that they all run to this day, and she looks for races that the whole family can get involved in.

When David was asked what his father meant to him, he said, "He was just the best. He taught me what it meant to be a man, how to be a man of God, and how to serve others. [He] really led by example, just trying to help others throughout his life ... To put into words what he meant to me, it's near impossible, but it's just a really fun test to sort of walk in his shadow."

David is the senior college writer at Pepperdine University in Malibu, California, and handles the internal and external communications of the school. He said, "It's a lot of fun and I get to work at a great, great Christian university ... And I think my dad would be really happy about it. He himself worked in Christian education for over 25 years. And so, to sort of step into a position that was familiar to him and sort of in his same line of work, I think would be meaningful and I'm happy to do it."

Of the event, David said, "This event is awesome. I really want to thank Coach Alstat, the Bond County school district board as well as just Greenville High School in general for honoring my dad in this way ... I think it says a lot about my dad and what he meant to the community. But I also think it says a lot about Greenville as a whole." He added that the family is really touched to be invited back.

For those who may not have known Dave Holden, David said he would want them to know his dad was "unconventional. His message was always to be different and that doesn't mean to be ostentatious. But it means ... to be countercultural in the way that we serve other people, in the way that we help others ... Put others before yourself. Always make others the priority. That's who my dad was and I just think that's a really unconventional perspective to hold in this day and age, just to be totally selfless. That was my dad."

Panthers football handles Manchester for second straight win

By Drew Frey
ADVOCATE SPORTS STAFF

Saturday, Manchester University came to town for the third week of football. The Panthers outscored the Spartans 49-22, picking up their second home win of the campaign.

The Panthers offense responded quickly as Peyton Bates hit Logan again for a 49-yard pass and Garrett scrambled in for another rushing touchdown to make it a two-possession game again.

Manchester's kicker hit a 37-yard field goal before halftime to make the score 35-9.

After the break, with 6:30 on the clock, William Nowlin intercepted a pass and returned it for a pick six. On the return, defensive holding was called on the Panthers and the ball was placed at the nine yard line.

For the fourth time, Garrett ran the ball into the end zone to put the Panthers up 42-9.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Manchester scored their second touchdown.

Once again the Greenville offense responded with a touchdown of their own as Nicholas Sanford scrambled in.

Late in the final quarter Manchester scored once more before the clock ran out making the final score 49-22.

The Spartans offense came back on the field but were held at bay by the Panther defense. On the Spartans' punt, the snapper sent the ball over the punter's head, setting up the Panthers with great field position.

On fourth and goal from the one yard line, Adrian Hinton ran the ball up the middle and crossed the goal line for another Panther touchdown.

Late in the first half and up 28-6 the Panthers marched down the field again and Garrett rushed across the goal line for his third touchdown of the afternoon.

The Panthers' second drive of the game generated the first touchdown of the game as they marched 75 yards and capped off the drive with a touchdown pass to Delrey Crowder from 11 yards out.

Greenville started their next drive with a 67-yard catch and run from Seth Logan, setting up Paul Garrett for an eight yard touchdown run to make it 14-0 late in the first quarter.

Manchester took the opening possession of the second quarter 50 yards and scored a touchdown, but missed their point-after attempt making it 14-6.

Football acrobatics: Paul Garrett flipping over the goal line for his first touchdown against Manchester U.

Bates threw for 226 yards including one touchdown and Logan was the top receiver with four receptions for 131 yards.

Hinton was the leading rusher for Greenville with 85 yards and one touchdown, and Garrett also added 53 yards and four touchdowns.

Next Saturday the Panthers will continue their home stretch as they host Olivet with a chance to pick up their third straight win.

Comets take care of Piasa on Homecoming Week

By Drew Frey
ADVOCATE SPORTS STAFF

The tight contest between the Comets and Piasa Southwestern Birds was sealed by an interception returned for a touchdown by Declan Graber to win 26-13.

At the end of a scoreless first quarter Grant Wilderman punched the ball into the end zone on the final play to put the Comets on top.

Halfway through the second quarter Piasa completed a 20-yard touchdown pass and converted their point after attempt to make it a 7-6 game.

Prior to halftime, Ryan Jackson found Dieken Graber for a 13-yard touchdown pass, and then they were successful on the two point conversion to make it 14-7.

After halftime Jackson was able to cap off a Comets' drive with a touchdown pass to Eli Shadowens, giving them a 20-7 lead.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Piasa scores again to bring the game within one possession.

With just under three minutes remaining and Piasa having possession of the ball, Declan Graber intercepted a pass and returned it 46 yards to the end zone to help secure the win.

Jackson passed for 152 yards and Shadowens was on the receiving end for 130 yards.

Friday the Comets travel to Litchfield with hopes of improving to 4-1.

Aces play their Cards right; win three

By Mark Jurgena
ADVOCATE NEWS STAFF

WHAT A WEEK!
A walk-off win, a seven-run seventh, and a short-game victory...

...and three wins in four games for the Mulberry Grove Aces baseball team!

The walk-off

"We were down by 1/7 inning last at-bat," began the text message from MG coach Kevin Millikin. "Logan Bauer drove in two runs. We win!"

Now that is one proud coach!

Let me elaborate for him. MG was down 4-3 with one out in the bottom of the seventh.

They had the bases loaded, and Logan Bauer stepped up to the plate.

The Aces third baseman came through as he ripped a single to center on a 2-0 pitch that scored both Jake Helmkamp and Aiden Walker to give MG a 5-4 walk-off win over Woodlawn on Sept. 17.

"He started out the year struggling at bat, but he has put in the work through the season and the work is starting to pay off," said Millikin.

It was game two on the day for the Aces as they were part of a triangular in Windsor.

In this one, MG had to overcome deficits twice to beat the Cardinals.

They fell behind 3-0 early but put together a big inning in the bottom of the third to tie the score.

The rally began with a walk to Carter Scoggins and a single by Arjan Epperson. Jason Millikin then singled home Scoggins and moved Epperson to third to make it a 3-1 game.

Helmkamp followed with a sacrifice fly to right to bring Epperson home and make it a one-run contest.

With two outs and runners on first and second, Jackson Icenogle doubled home Millikin to tie the game.

Woodlawn would plate a run in the top of the sixth to go up 4-3 but that only set the stage for a dramatic finish.

"We were pretty evenly matched in another really defensive game," said Millikin. "When we did get down our guys fought back for the score and the win."

Icenogle picked up the complete game victory scattering four hits and giving up four runs, only three of which were earned.

Offensively, Bauer and Icenogle had two hits each.

Game one:

In their opener Saturday morning, MG did not fare quite as well and were soundly beaten by Windsor/Stew-Stras 13-0 in five innings.

MG got hits from Millikin, Helmkamp, Icenogle, and Walker.

Seven run seventh

4 hits + 4 freebies = 7 runs. That was the baseball math that led the Aces to a big seven-run top of the seventh to secure an 8-1 road win over Cowden-Herrick/Beecher City on Sept. 15.

"I am proud of my boys. They fought hard defensively," said coach Millikin. "It was like playing chess. Two evenly matched teams waiting for the first one to make the mistake. Once the mistake was made we just capitalized on the situation and kept the pressure on and had a really big inning."

The seventh began with consecutive walks to Axel Erck, Icenogle, and Bauer.

With one out the break occurred when Aaron Cook took a hit-by-pitch to drive home Erck, give the Aces a 2-1 lead, and open the flood gates.

Scoggins followed with an RBI single to make it 3-1. With two outs, J. Millikin smacked a three-run double down the left field line to put MG up 6-1. Helmkamp followed with an RBI double and Erck finished the scoring with an RBI single.

J. Millikin finished with two hits while Scoggins, Epperson, Helmkamp, Erck, Bauer, and Tristan Altenberger had one each.

Scoggins tossed six innings of one-hit ball while striking out nine. He gave up one run and walked one.

Helmkamp pitched the seventh for Mulberry.

Ten-run win

A 15-hit explosion by MG spelled doom for Ramsey as the Aces walloped the Rams 14-4 in six innings on Sept. 13.

Six Aces hitters had multiple-hit games — J. Millikin and Walker collected three while Scoggins, Epperson, Helmkamp, and Bauer each had two. Altenberger also singled.

J. Millikin collected two doubles and three RBIs while Walker and Epperson each had a double and an RBI.

Cook and Epperson pitched for the Aces.

Loss to Altamont:

On Sept. 8, MG traveled to Altamont and was soundly beaten 10-0 in six innings. J. Millikin had the only hit for MG.

Upcoming schedule:

The Aces are in the Egyptian-Illini Conference tournament this week. They hosted Ramsey yesterday, however results were unavailable at press time.

Today they host CHBC and on Friday they wrap up the tourney against Brownstown-St. Elmo at Greenville University.

Aces notes:

MG has won five of their last seven contests and has a 6-6 mark for the fall season.

Rock, Paper, Scissors?

During triangular days when the host school isn't playing, the home team has to be established somehow. It used to be determined by a coin flip. However, with debit cards ... coins aren't as readily available so now it is often a gentlemen's agreement on which team gets the last at-bat.

Against Woodlawn, Millikin and Cardinal, coach Ethan Gowler went with a game of rock, paper, scissors to determine the home team. Millikin threw a rock, won, took the home team, and unknowingly set up the walk-off win.

GHS tennis takes three in quad at Alton

By Mark Jurgena
ADVOCATE SPORTS STAFF

It was another day of excellent tennis for the Greenville High School girls tennis team as they took down three schools in Alton on Sept. 15.

They beat Granite City and Alton (Marquette) by identical 5-0 scores and Bethalto (Civic Memorial) 3-2.

"Another strong team showing got us three W's today!" said GHS coach Vaughn Robart.

At No. 1 singles, Paige Mathias won all three matches, not dropping a single game while at No. 2 singles Evie Johnson won all three of hers as well.

In doubles action, the No. 1 team of Katelyn Ridens and Ellie Schaufelberger also won all three of their matches.

At No. 2 doubles, Cora Miller and Ana Palen won matches against Granite and Marquette. At No. 3 doubles, Haley Beckert and Eden Kapp won their matches over Granite and Marquette.

The Lady Comets are now 10-1 on the season.

Upcoming schedule:

The varsity Lady Comets are in action again Wednesday for a big quad matchup in Centralia against the host Orphan Annies, Troy (Triad), and Collinsville.

They will return to Centralia Saturday for a tournament.

Postseason assignment:

Last week the girls received their postseason assignment. They are in the Class 1A Centralia Sectional. However, that does not begin until Oct. 14-15 so there is still plenty of opportunity to get out to see them play. Their next home match is on Sept. 27 against Salem at the Greenville University tennis courts.

The Greenville High School boys golf team competed in a triangular meet on Sept. 15 at the Nashville Municipal Golf Course and returned home with a runner-up finish.

The host Hornets won the day by firing a score of 172 with Greenville coming in at 189. Centralia (Christ Our Rock Lutheran) shot a 198.

Rowdy Sussenbach shot a 46 to pace the Comets while Jack Workman and Dustin Rehkemper finished just behind with identical scores of 47. Elusha Golovay fired a 49 while Cohen Reavis came in with a 56.

"I would say we played better at Nashville's course this week but I thought we would have a lower score," said GHS coach Steve Danaman. "We are in the last few matches before conference and regionals so we need a little more consistency for the rest of the season."

Our Readers Speak

Editor:

I recently received this Advocate editorial written by Jeff Leidel in 2007. The person who sent it to me is a former Sorento resident and was a student at our school. He understands the brokenness that we all feel and also understands the pride that we have always had in our school. There are so many things I could say about the closing of Sorento School, but I know most of you would not believe me if I did tell you.

So all I ask is that you would please just read Jeff's editorial and weep. Read it and weep. Don't weep for us in Sorento, but weep for yourselves because you lack the ability to understand. I am reminded of the old song from my youth that says:

"Don't it always seem to go
 That you don't know what you've got till it's gone.
 They paved paradise,
 Put up a parking lot."

My View by Jeff Leidel, Editor

Sorento Pride

Anyone who had any doubt about the importance of a school in a small community should have been in Sorento on Saturday afternoon.

A huge crowd of past and present students, teachers and principals attended the all-school reunion, held in conjunction with the 125th birthday of the village of Sorento. They came from not only throughout the United States, but the world.

They flocked to the school due to the good memories they had from their days of attending Sorento School. I walked through the group, hearing stories being told and seeing smiles on many faces. It appeared everyone was very happy they had taken the effort to be a part of the reunion.

Those speaking at the formal program talked about some of their school memories and experiences. It was an interesting trip through the history of the school.

Organizers of the event were astounded at the turnout. It's difficult to judge the size of a crowd that big, but at least 500 former students had indicated prior to the event that they planned to attend.

The committee members who worked many months for the reunion to become a reality should be commended for their efforts. The same accolades should go to those who worked just as long on the village's 125th anniversary celebration. Like them, I felt bad that the rain hit Friday night, sending many people home early or keeping area residents from attending. The pageant and the music went on, however.

The weather was better on Saturday and Sunday, allowing the celebration to continue without interruption.

Let me say to the sesquicentennial and school reunion committees, "Great job!"

Business girls to equip room at ladies' hall: On Tuesday evening the Business and Professional Women's Club of Greenville voted to furnish and equip the first-aid or hospital room of the new Ladies Hall of Greenville College. Much interest has been taken by various organizations and individuals in furnishing private rooms in the new dormitory, but the Business Women's Club decided that a first aid or hospital room would provide more comfort and cheer to the girl students as a whole than one room.

The room which the business women will equip is on the third floor. It connects with a hall, is equipped with a separate toilet and sick room. The rooms may be shut off completely from the other room and a suspicious case may be isolated from any contact with the student body. The sick room is furnished with two beds, dresser, chairs, etc.

Enrollment 180 at college; more than last year: With an enrollment in the collegiate development of 180, Greenville College opened Tuesday. Reports of enrollment in the other departments have not been compiled. It is believed the total enrollment of the entire college will be greater than ever before. 80 girls are now quartered in the new Ladies Hall and 70 young men in the Men's Dormitory. New students are coming in every day. The teachers are all present.

While it was not at first planned to have a convocation address nevertheless, an address of this character was delivered by Rev. W. B. Olmstead of Glenellyn, general missionary secretary of the Free Methodist Church Tuesday morning. His address was on the subject of "The Key to the Solution of the World's Problems." He dwelt on suggestions for the solution of the world's problems from philosophy, and from economics, but found the solution in christianity.

There are students from Seattle, Los Angeles, Minnesota and from nearly every state in the union, as well as a large delegation from Canada.

President Burritt is much pleased over the outlook for a successful year.

Krogers leases building at Mulberry Grove: The Kroger Grocery Co., of St. Louis has leased the Rea building in Mulberry Grove, formerly occupied by the Humphrey Drug Co., and will open a grocery store there about October 15th.

According to C.H. Rea, who told The Advocate this morning he had leased the building to them, carpenters are making necessary changes to the store.

Burn your leaves Before 4 O'clock p.m.: Mayor D. A. Wise announced yesterday that those who burn leaves must rake them out of the ditch and they will be privileged to burn them during the day or at any time before four o'clock in the afternoon. There is a city ordinance which says leaves must not be burned after four p.m.

James McDonald is chosen for West Point: Pfc. James L. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McDonald of Champaign, formerly of this city, is one of two U. S. Army Air Corps enlistees who have been selected and recommended from Colling Field, Washington D.C. for the regular course of instruction in West Point Academy. His parents have not been informed of his decision concerning his acceptance of this promotion. Thieves rob juke box and cash register at Pocahontas drug store: Thieves who entered the Glen Kackley drug store at Pocahontas, either Saturday or Sunday night, rifled the coin box of the jukebox and also took about one dollar in change from the register in the store.

The proprietor told Sheriff David Blankenship, who investigated the robbery, that no one was in the store from Saturday night until Monday morning when the robbery was discovered. Entrance was gained by forcing a side window. Once inside the store the thieves pried off the back of the jukebox to get at the coin box. How much was in the box is not known.

Sheriff Blankenship said a similar robbery at a tavern in Marine Sunday night had been reported to him. In this case too the jukebox was robbed and some liquor taken.

Exploding oil stove damages kitchen in home of John Miles: An oil stove which exploded in the kitchen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miles, living six and one half miles southeast of Greenville Tuesday morning about 8:30 o'clock, badly damaged the kitchen and furnishings.

Neighbors and volunteers held the flames in check until members of the Greenville fire department arrived and they succeeded in putting out the fire, confining the damage to the kitchen, by use of the pressure water tank on the fire truck. Ralph Loyd, N.E. Whitlock and J.P. Malan took the truck to the fire.

The kitchen was reported as a total loss but there was no damage to the remainder of the house, which is owned by Hope Walker Jr. The building was insured, but whether there was insurance on the furnishings was not learned.

City water shut off most of today: Due to the replacing of two defective fire plugs in the city today, the city water may be shut off for the greater part of the day, said Mayor Raymond Genre this morning.

One plug was located at College and Prairie and the other at Elm and Asbury. Unfortunately when the city water system was laid out, the only shut off for that end of the city was at Joy's corner so a great portion of the city's homes will be short on water today. No shortage of water at all just fixing some defective plugs.

Band Patrons plan for fall activities: The Band Patrons held their first meeting of the year at the new band room, north of the high school, Monday night. The members were interested in seeing for the first time the new building, which is equipped entirely for band practice. Plans were made for the fall programs which include a pot luck supper on Oct. 14, and for the band carnival to be held on Halloween night. J.P. Snowden, president of the organization, presided. Mrs. Paul Morgan is secretary.

Parking lot paved: Men and machines moved in to put the finishing touches on the First United Methodist Church parking lot on South Second street this past week. The lot is located across the street east of the church and north of the church's education building.

The new lot will provide parking for approximately 90 cars and will be shared by First National Bank which will use it through the week for employee parking. It will also be available for public use except on Sundays. The Rev. Jack Frick, pastor of the church, said the lot will soon be striped off the landscaping done around the perimeter.

Must live in state only 30 days to vote court rules: A ruling was handed down Tuesday by a three-judge United States panel that a person was eligible to vote in Illinois after living in the state for only 30 days.

The decision, which declared unconstitutional the state's six-month voting residency requirement, was issued in a case remanded from the United States Supreme Court. The ruling puts Illinois in line with the high court's recent voting decision.

U.S. Appeals Court Judge Walter J. Cummings and District Court Judges Julius J. Hoffmann and William Lynch handed down the ruling.

The original case had been filed by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of all voters. The suit charged that the state's 1870 constitutional requirement of the one-year residence before voting was unconstitutional.

A three-judge panel found the constitutional provision valid and the ACLU appealed. The U.S. Supreme Court found last April that Tennessee's one-year residency requirement was unconstitutional and in light of that decision sent the Illinois ACLU case back to the U.S. Appeals Court for further consideration. Meanwhile, a new state constitution that took effect in 1970 had cut the residency requirement to six months.

Mulberry Grove High School band elects new officers: The Mulberry Grove High School band began making preparations for another busy year by electing officers for 1972-73.

The new band officers are Kendra Reed, president; David Deverick, vice president; Dianne Ennen, secretary-treasurer; Clarene Dooly, reporter; and Jeannie Ingram, Linda Flamm, and Dale Deverick, librarians.

The start of another school year means a continuation of activities for the band rather than a resumption since the marching band has been busy all summer at various activities and gatherings.

In addition to the usual performances at the Mulberry Grove Fireman's Picnic and the Bond County Fair, the marching Aces took part in the Hillsboro Homecoming parade and, most recently, the Annual Apple Festival parade at Murphysboro last weekend.

The band also received an invitation to help welcome Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern at the Carbondale Airport Monday.

Included in the $196,123 renovation of the courtroom was the stripping and refinishing of the woodwork. New solid oak doors were installed throughout the courtroom and associated offices.

Ragged Blade band performs at DeMoulin Museum

By Susan Chism
ADVOCATE NEWS STAFF

Saturday evening the Ragged Blade band from St. Louis made its fourth appearance at the DeMoulin Museum. The performers displayed extraordinary talent, and the weather was perfect.

The six-piece ensemble opened with Irving Berlin's 1911 hit "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Ragtime music is a particularly American invention, a combination of African American rhythms combined with classical music and having a strong syncopated or "ragged" beat. From 1895 until 1917 it was the most popular style in U.S. music, giving way to jazz and blues in the 1920s. The band played selections from all these eras.

St. Louis rightly deserves fame for ragtime music; it first appeared at the 1893 World's Fair. Tom Turpin wrote "St. Louis Rag" in 1903 to be played at his Rosebud Bar tavern in St. Louis. Lester Walton graduated from Sumner High School in St. Louis and wrote "Can't Keep My Eyes off of You" in 1907. Of course, Scott Joplin's "The Entertainer" is perhaps the most familiar ragtime number, written in 1902.

The band moved to jazz and 1930's and played "Georgia On My Mind," a Hoagy Carmichael number later made famous by Ray Charles.

They included blues with Peggy Lee and Benny Goodman's 1940 "Why Don't You Do Right?"

The DeMoulin Museum enjoys providing free entertain to the community, but groups usually don't travel and perform without cost. As such, the museum is grateful to Bradford Bank, Holy Family Hospital, Frank and Susan Watson, Thacker Insurance, 7 Oaks Realty, and SIUA Insurance for underwriting the cost of the evening.

Artists telling their stories

Intimate conversations with artists

HIGHLAND ART COUNCIL RELEASE

Everyone wants to tell the story of their lives, and artists are no exception. The Highland Arts Council will celebrate world-class art in a hometown atmosphere with its 18th annual Art in the Park event. At this free, two-day outdoor and indoor juried show, you will have time to meet artists and listen to the stories behind their artwork. How were they inspired to create it? What does it take to create such a piece? Where were you when the inspiration hit? All this will happen during Art in the Park on Oct. 8, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Oct. 9, 11 a.m.-4 p.m., at Lindendale Park in Highland.

Brady Kesner, photographic artist from Highland might tell you this: "I spent four days in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park of East Tennessee chasing this landscape photography addiction that I have and came home with some nice images and a relaxed state of mind. Nature is good for that. I got rained on all four days and didn't see a sunrise or sunset but that's what Nature gifted me. And that works just fine. Those conditions were ideal for waterscape and delightfully foggy forest scenes like this one from Cades Cove. The trees are a gift."

"I am fascinated and sometimes obsessed with the process of visualizing a shape in my mind's eye and working through the engineering, mechanical and fabrication steps to build a finished piece," said David Bailey, jewelry artist from Alton. "It is always wonderful to behold a finished piece that came from the cosmos between my ears."

"My favorite part of the design is mixing the blocks of color to create just the color I have in mind," says Peggy Bellm-Carnley, a mixed media artist from Highland. "My work is created with polymer clay, a man-made material that is lightweight, but very strong and durable. Each design is my original work. Each piece is one of a kind."

"Some people have never heard the terms steampunk and cyberpunk," confess Greg and Janey Brummett, artists from Highland, entered in the sculpture category. "We create industrial art lamps and tables in these styles using antiques, 100-year-old barnwood, and copper fold form. Everything is handcrafted in our studio."

"This family-friendly festival brings professional artwork to the community while providing music, food and fun for children and adults. Join us on Oct. 8-9, for Art in the Park in Lindendale Park in Highland.

Do you need your flu shot this month?

Will you be out and about for the all-town yard sales?

Do you enjoy good food and music?

Mark your map and come see us at the Bond County Health Department at 1520 S. 4th Street in Greenville on Saturday, September 24 for food prepared by Wes Pourchot, music and miscellaneous yard sale items. We will also be offering the influenza vaccine, as we are heading into the new flu season.

Don't have the room in your yard or garage to display your items for sale? Call us and reserve a spot to display your items at this event. Food and music will be offered from 11-1.

Reservations are requested for the flu vaccine, however walk-in's will be welcome as the schedule allows.
